AYRSHIRE RACE COURSE BURNED

Grand Stand, Stables and All Buildings Consumed By Flames.

REVENGE O F WOMEN.

Suffragette Pickets Walk in Relays Night and Day Around Prison of Mrs. Pankhurst.

Ayr, Scotland, April 5.—Militant suffragettes set fire to the race course here today and the grand stand, stables, and all buildings were totally consumed, entailing a loss of $150,000.

Without actually taking life the suffragettes could hardly have chosen a more effective method by which to stagger Scottish humanity than when the burned down the buildings of the Ayrshire Race course today. The flat racing is just beginning in Great Britain and an important meet was to have been held here soon. The race track authorities could not say immediately after the fire, whether it would be possible to restore the course in time for the scheduled races.

The buildings of the race course were of wood and very dry. They burned like tinder. Almost as soon as the blaze was discovered it had spread all over the place, and was impossible to combat. The grand stand was completely destroyed, as was the judges stand and other buildings and much of the fencing.

London, April 5—An order was expected from the home office today removing the hunger-striking Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst from Holloway jail to Aylesbury prison, forty miles from London. The suffragette pickets, who, in relays, have walked around the jail night and day since their leader was imprisoned, were chagrined at the prospective transfer of Mrs. Pankhurst because Aylesbury is a lonely place, where any demonstration the women might make would lose much of its effectiveness.

That the defiant militant leader would not serve three years in prison, or even an appreciable fraction of that time is almost assured. Her stay in jail will be measured by her physical endurance. If Mrs. Pankhurst has the will power to starve herself into a condition of such weakness that death would follow, she will be released on Home Secretary McKenna's "ticket of leave" plan whenever the prison doctors report that further confinement would be fatal.

True to her word Mrs. Pankhurst has not eaten a bite since she was committed.

REPLY TO QUERY.

April 5, 1913.

To the Editor of Alexandria Gazette:

Dear Sir:—In reply to your querry in yesterday's edition of your paper as to what has become of our ball team, permit me to state that we still have it, that we intend to keep it, and that it is a good ball team.

The reason for the game between the married men and the bachelors is that he later claim to be both mentally and physically superior to the benedicts. This the married men emphatically deny, and therefore the ball game to decide. One thing is certain, however, and that is that life will be made miserable for the losing side for sometime to come. The game will take place next Friday and we cordially extend and invitation to you and your staff to witness this contest. So far the utmost secrecy has prevailed as to the line-ups of the respective teams, but they will be made public within a day or two.

Very truly yours,
H. GUSACK, Manager.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

One hundred and twenty-four of the passengers and crew of the steamship Agidir, which went ashore off Gibraltar early Thursday morning in a gale, are still on board, and much doubt is expressed over the possibility of their rescue. A heavy sea is breaking over the vessel, preventing all attempts at rescue by life boats late yesterday evening the captain of the Agadir signalled that the ship was pounding on the rocks and already had shown signs of breaking up. Forty of the passengers were rescued by the French cruiser Friant by means of a life-line shot to the Agadir from the deck of the cruiser, but the increasing gale has rendered this method extremely hazardous.

J. C. Hayes, chief of police of De-Cherd, Tenn., was instantly killed Thursday when struck by a pitched bell in a game between the De-cherd High School team and a picked nine. Hayes was passing behind the catcher, when the ball thrown by Wista Tillett, pitcher for the high school, struck him behind the ear. Death was practically instantaneous. He was married, and leaves besides his wife, seven children.

Miss Gertrude Murphy, 28 years old, was fatally burned last night in an explosion of gas in her home at 915 S street, northwest, Washington, when she rescued her mother, Mrs. Mary Murphy, 68 years old, from asphyxiation. Her father, ohn Murphy, a tinner, 78 years old, was also seriously injured by the explosion, which set the house on fire.

Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, of Indiana, in a speech yesterday at Battle Creek, Mich., practically predicted that he would be the next President of the United States.

Three Men Burned to Death.

Pitsburgh, Pa., April 5.—Three men, all foriegners, were burned to death in an explosion in the Homestead Steel plant early today. The names of the dead, it was announced, would be known only after the roll books had been examined. Twenty workmen were hurled some distance, when hot slag, which they were emptying, ignited gas which made its way into the department. The three men were found buried under piles of hot metal, burnt to a crisp.

THE HOUSE OF ANDREWS.

Largest And Best Equipped Business Building in Washington Occupied Entirely by One Firm.

The new home of the House of Andrews is a marvel of modern efficiency in construction. It is as near the ideal structure as money and skill could make it.

It rests on the heaviest foundations of any private building in Washington, is absolutely fireproof, being constructed of steel, brick, and terra cotta throughout, with a front of white glazed terra cotta.

Every feature that could add to the health and comfort of employees and the convenience of patrons has been installed. The front is practically one vast window.

The building has five stories and basement. The basement extends twenty feet under the sidewalk, and is equipped with the best modern chutes. It is 110 feet deep, with a 61 foot front.

The greater part of the first floor space is used as a display room for the wholesale department, also stationary.

In the rear are a series of offices for the cashiers and their staff.

Five electric elevators make the handling of stock quick and safe.

On the second floor are the general offices and reception room. The remainder of the building is used for storing the vast stocks.

All floors are connected by the tab-autograph, the modern magician of communication which instantly reproduces in fac-simile the order written by the salesmen on the first floor.

Each department of the house of Andrews has in charge a manager who knows all the ins and outs of such work.

The chief concentrates his whole attention on the business under his immediate supervision.

The heads of departments being selected from the regular employes of the firm.

SCUTARI IS SAID TO HAVE SURRENDERED

City Falls After Having Been Invested by Sixty Thousand Allies.

INSIST ON DEMANDS.

Want Cession of Aegean Islands and Cash Indemnity—Claims Regarded as Exhorbitant.

London, April 5.—Scutari has surrendered to the Montenegrins and Servians according to persistent, but unconfirmed reports here today. From Paris and Vienna from news agencies and other sources the rumor was heard repeatedly but the foreign office and the diplomats had no authentic information. The report agreed that the beleagured city fell early today before a last desperate assault by sixty thousand of the allies.

Sofia, April 5.—The Balkan allies, replying to the peace proposal of the great powers, today stated formally that they would insist on their demands for a cash indemnity and for the cession of the Aegean Islands to Greece. They are willing, they said, to accept the Turkish European frontier proposed by the powers. The reply was in the form of a note delivered by the Bulgarian foreign office to the diplomatic representatives of the powers at Sofia.

In their peace proposals, which Turkey agreed two days ago to accept, the ambassadors of the powers at London, characterized the allies' demand for the Aegean Islands as excessive and suggested that instead of a cash indemnity, each ally assume that portion of the Ottocan public debt credited to that part of Turkey-in-Europe taken over by the victorious states.

Negro Murderer Lynched.

Mondak, Mont., April 5.—Intense excitement reigned here today as a result of the lynching late yesterday of J. C. Cillins, a negro, after he had shot and killed Sheriff Courteney and Deputy Sheriff Burmaster, while they were trying to arrest him.

Collins was wanted for beating a woman. Courteney, Burmaster and Deputy Sheriff E. F. Wilson went to a bridge construction camp after him. Wilson stepped into Collins' shack ahead of the others and was forced to give up his arms by the negro. Just as Collins stepped out of the door Sheriff Courteney met him and Collins fired twice, killing him, and then turned his gun on Burmaster sending five bullets through his body.

A posse overtook Collins and he was lodged in jail. A mob formed and Collins was dragged out of his cell, strung up from a telegraph pole, his clothing set fire and his body riddled with bullets.

HEAVY APRIL SHOWERS.

Copius Downpour Accompanied by Much Thunder and Lightning.

The warm wave of the present week passed away last night, and this morning April seemed to be displaying some of the ten days she is said to borrow from March, as old Boreas let it be known that he was not ready to relax his grip.

Conditions had been threatening yesterday, and shortly before nine o'clock a heavy shower of rain began to fall with thunder and lightning at short intervals. Three occasional lulls of short duration, which were followed by more copius downpours continued until about midnight.

The wind in the meantime had changed from the south to the northwest and the mercury was seen to be falling. Later the northern heavens grew brighter, and this morning broke clear and crisp.

There was a brief display of lightning last month, but the storm of last night was of the nature said to bring shad and herring into the river and to awaken the snakes.

SUSPECTS DISMISSED.

White Man Alleges he Was Robbed of Twenty Dollars by Negroes.

Noah Green and Edward Tompkins, both colored were brought before the Police Court this morning at the instance of a white man named Ben Davis, who charged them with robbing him of twenty dollars on Thursday night on the commons on north Royal street extended.

The darkeys were dismissed, as it was shown by the evidence that Davis was drinking and treated the two men he charged with robbing him.

Tompkins denied having seen the complainant, and averred that he entered a game Thursday evening and won some money. The witnesses for the prosecution made no satisfactory statements.

CLEAN-UP CRUSADE.

It is said that a number of policemen have contracted writer's cramp from making out numerous reports of the conditions of yards and alleys which work is being done in accordance with the house to house inspections the police have been engaged in for the past few days.

Monday morning the health office department will begin its active campaign to make Alexandria one of the cleanest cities in this section of Virginia. The most active efforts will be made to secure the co-operation of all school children in the work of cleaning up yards and keeping the alleys and back premises swept clean.

The health officer is vested with police authority in the performance of his duties. In accordance with section 7 of the health laws of the City of Alexandria, which says in part: "The health officer may require yards and premises and the streets and gutters in front of any premises, when he thinks it important to the health of any neighborhood, to be cleaned by the owner of such premises. For failure to obey the orders of the health officer there is a fine provided of not less than one dollar or more than twenty dollars, and each day's violation shall be deemed a separate offense."

Section II of the health code requires that lots be kept clean.

While section 15 reads in part:" "that it shall be the duty of every butcher, grocer, dealer in fish or meats and every occupant of any stall in the market or store within the city limits to keep his place of business clean of all vegetable leaves, filth and rubbish of every kind, the word rubbish shall be construed to include waste paper of any description."

MR. MONCURE'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Robinson Moncure, member of the House of Delegates, last night delivered an address at the meeting of Lone Star Camp, American Indian Guards.

Sixty members of Lone Star Camp were present, and about forty Boy Scouts, all of whom listened attentively to Mr. Moncure's remarks.

The speaker took for his theme "Citienship," and the Ten Commandments as the basis of his remarks. He termed them to "Ten Rules." The suggestions and facts he brought to the attention of his hearers were practical as well as interesting.

STRIKE RIOTS AT AUBURN MILLS

Machinists Stoned This Morning as They Enter The Plant.

WILL SHOOT TO KILL.

Sheriff Issues Proclamation Warning the Public of Consequences of Going Near Mills.

Auburn, N. Y., April 5.—Although two companies of the state militia and the city police were on duty about the International Harvester twine mills and Columbian Rope Company's plant today, trouble again broke out between striking employes of the two companies, and workers who have continued their labors in the mills. About three hundred strikers gathered near the plant and threw stones at machinists entering the mill. None was injured. The soldiers and police drove the strikers back to the New York Central rialroad tracks. No shots were fired.

Militia officers today stated that if a fight such as occured yesterday when six strikers were wounded, appeared imminent today they were under orders to "shoot to kill." Martial law was in force today about the plants of the two twine factories. The Columbian plant was closed down. Shades were drawn, and no one but watchmen and caretakers were inside. The sheriff issued a proclamation today warning the public against going near the plants.

The grounds about the plant of the Columbian Rope Company took on the appearance of an armed camp today, when Company C, of the 3rd Infantry, from Syracuse, marched in to town to aid the local militia company in guard duty about the mill.

Company C arrived with full field equipment. The men were provided with rations and 1,300 rounds of am munition.

DICKENS' CHARACTERS.

Micawber and Dick Swivelers in Evidence in All Days.

For half a century Charles Dickens' well-known characters have charmed the world. Human frailties always accentuated by the great novelist, bring his men and women very close to us, for they are but word portraits of the contemporaries with whom he rubbed elbows and whose eccentricities were in no wise different from those of ourselves and of our neighbors.

Among the best known characters he portrayed stands Micawber, out at elbows, run down at heel, pursued by every harrassing misfortune which can make wretched the prodigal and thriftless and reaping the crop sown through a life time of improvidence. And yet, Micawber was the soul of optimism, the everflowing fountain of hope and well-spring of unalloyed good nature. Through years of misfortune he waited for "something to turn up."

We know this man Micawber today. Every one of us knows him. We may not see in him the lovable characteristics that make the great original so dear to us; a close contact with him may fail to impress us with the genial humor and the gay lightheartedness of David Copperfield's friend and mentor, but the same lack of industry mars his life and the same bright glow of hope warms his heart. He does not despair of somethig turning up. You see him leaning against the wall watching the busy throng on its way. He is with us always and should excite a little pity for his unfortunate lot. He is happy and hopeful but an extremely pathetic object just the same.

It is an old saying that a man who starts to dig a post hole is sure to draw a bunch of idlers about him. It is so when he lays a pavement or is engaged in building or remodeling a house.

MEMPHIS SUFFERS FROM THE FLOOD

Five Blocks Now Inundated and Ten May be Put Under Water.

SITUATION AT CAIRO.

City May Escape Being Flooded—Ohio May Contribute $2,000,000 for Sufferers in That State.

Memphis, Tenn., April 5.—The levees confining the swollen backwaters of Bayou Gayoso on the southside broke here this morning at Third and Concord streets, flooding about five city blocks: No lives were lost.

The break will flood all that section of Memphis inundated last year, except the section north of the Bayou, containing the lighting and water plants which are safe.

The whole section subject to overflow at any stage is only ten blocks of an old part of the city. Water is backing up into this section through the sewers.

Cairo, Ill., April 5.—The Cairo situation was much improved today. While the river has been stationery since yesterday, at the dangerous high stage of 54.7 feet, there has been no advance of the waters and general belief now is that Cairo will escape inundation. This feeling of security is due to the completeness of the precautions taken to prevent an incursion of the flood waters and the tendency of the river to recession.

The rapidity of the current is assurance that he breaks in the levees south of Cairo are taking care of the flood. In addition, a large volume of water is flowing into the Mississippi river through Cache Creek and over the Mobile and Ohio tracks.

Columbus, O., April 5.—Governor Cox today expected to confer with Senator Pomeren about introducing a bill in the Special Session of Congress to appropriate $2,000,000 or more for the temporary relief of flood sufferers in Ohio.

NEW STATION FOR RICHMOND.

President White Discusses Tentative Plans for Terminal in West End.

Richmond, April 5.—President W. H. White, of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad Company, told the streets committee of the council last night that his company has under consideration the construction of a great new station in Richmond, which will cost approximately $1,000,000.

The site chosen for the new station is in West Broad street. President White was before the committee to discuss the proposition of removing the tracks between Elba station and Byrd street station. Mr. White said the project had been for a long time in contemplation.

He said imporvements would carry with them the transformation of the wooden structures in Seventh street, below Byrd.

He promised thatthe company would at an early date have the shifting yards on the south side of Broad street transferred from the property west of Elba station to a point farther west, on the north side of the street, probably on the site of the old Broad street baseball park.

He asked an indulgence of thirty days to submit plans.

On motion of Alderman Puller, the city attorney was instructed to furnish the committee with all data concerning the right of the railroad in the streets between Byrd street station and Elba, and Broad beyond Elba.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Interesting News Notes About People of Alexandria-- Happenings in Society.

The Century Dance took place last evening at the Elks' Auditorium and too much praise cannot be given to Miss Philippa Wattles, and Miss Nannie Norton who undertook all the arrangements which were complete in every small detail. Featurese were the old-time quadrille and lancers in which the mothers and fathers "swang the corner" and "sacheted" to their hearts content and when "every lady to the centre" was called for in the figures—the spryness of the old-time German enthusiasts proved they were quite in their element. The grand march at nine-thirty led by Miss Norton and Miss Wattles ,was most attractive and all of the pretty new gowns showed to great advantage. An elaborate supper was served at midnight from a beautifully appointed table in the centre of the stage—the profusion of pink carnations, and tapers shedding a soft glow through the rosy shades made a most pleasing picture. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Carlin received the guests and Masters Chas. Carlin and Tom Wattles presented the couples with an attractive program.

NO MORE NEED OF FUNDS

Mayor of Akron, Ohio, Notifies Mayor Fisher That Silk Workers' Strike is at an End

Mayor Thomas A. Fisher of this city today received the following communication from Frank W. Rockwell, Mayor of the city of Akron, Ohio:

Akron, Ohio, March 30, 1913.

To the Honorable Mayor:

It has been definitely ascertained that the organization known as the I. W. W. is sending broadcast appeals for money to assist Akron rubber strikers, representing that deplorable conditions exist and that hundreds of strikers are on the verge of starvation.

The facts are these. The rubber workers strike began because of the unwarranted intrusion of outside agitators. Because no real grievances existed the strike ended by the men going back to work after a few weeks of folly and unrest The strike is over and only a little group of perhaps fifty agitators is left.

I therefore desire to warn you and through you the people of your city that in the opinion of the law abiding and orderly people of Akron no funds which may be contributed will be used for the assistance of striking which may be contributed will be used to augment the compensation of foreign agitators, who are here for the sole purpose of creating disturbance from which they expect financial gain for themselves, and who will leave here as soon as money ceases to flow into their treasury.

From their own statements they must have collected between $15,000 and $20,000 in this city, and it does not appear that during the strike any amount worth mentioning has been expended for relief.

It is only fair to your people that they should know the truth. If they contribute to this "cause" they are merely enriching a few agitators that may make havoc in other communities.

I therefore request that you give this statement the widest possible publicity.

FRANK W. ROCKWELL.
Mayor of Akron Ohio.

P. S. The I. W. W. has this day declared the strike off. So there can be no need of any more funds.

RECEPTION PLANNED.

At a meeting of Potomac Lodge of Odd Fellows held last night, plans were completed for a reception to A. M. Southall, of Danville, Va., grand master of the State. The members of the two local lodges, together with lodges from Alexandria and Fairfax counties, will attend. April 16 is the date of the reception.

IN GOOD CONDITION.

Alexandria firemen certainly do take good care of their horses. Any one who saw the team of grays which were purchased by the city for the Reliance Steam Fire Engine Company, some time ago, when the animals arrived at the engine house, would agree that they were rough looking and did not pull well together To see and inspect them now they would not be recognied as the same animals, careful grooming and attention having turned the horses into a fine team of animals.

LADY INJURED.

Mrs. Mary Malcolm, residing near Burke's Station, Fairfax county, was seriously injured a few days ago while endeavoring to prevent her horse from running away. The animal, which was attached to a vehicle in which Mrs. Malcolm was seated, was frightened by a bicyclist and started to run away. Mrs. Malcolm, after considerable exertion, succeeded in quieting the animal, but in doing so sustained internal injuries which proved to be of a serious nature .

ANOTHER MEETING TONIGHT.

A meeting of the new organization of citizens of Rosemont will be held tonight at the electric car station, when a committee, which was appointed last week will make a report and make their recommendations for the purchase of fire apparatus for protection of the suburb. It is probable that the committee will suggest that a small chemical engine be purchased and installed in a building somewhere on the hill, which will serve as an emergency apparatus for first aid in case a fire breaks out anywhere in the suburb. It has also been suggested that a horse be provided to haul the apparatus and one man placed in charge on salary, who would of course, be required to be on duty all the time or subject to call on instant notice.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription.

We have sold other remedies for skin troubles but none that we can recommend as highly as this for we know that D.D.D. stops the itch at once. We can give you a trial size bottle for 25 cents that will be enough to prove it.

Of course all other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee:—If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

Mr. Sutherland had occasion to go out into the yard to ascertain the cause by a barking and howling dog. He was attack- ensued before he succeeded in shooting ed by the dog, and a fierce encounter the animal and casting it from him.

Mr. Sutherland was but partially dressed at the time and was badly bitten in the leg, the flesh being torn and lacerated. The dog is believed to have been suffering from rabies. The head of the dog is to be subjected to examination. It was sent to Washington for analysis of the brain to discover the presence of rabies.

ROBBED BY NEGRESS.

Virginia Merchant Held up in Baltimore And Loses Wallet.

Baltimore, April 5.—Eulie J. Marsh, a merchant of Miskimmon, Northumberland county, Va., who came here several days ago to make purchases at wholesale houses, was held up by a negress last night at North and Bath streets. He lost a wallet containing $100 in cash and checks totalling $300.

After an exciting chase of four blocks the woman was caught by Marsh and held until the arrival of Police Sergeant Charles Ray. She was taken to the Central Police station, but denied having taken the wallet.

It was ascertained that the woman had been arrested several years ago for a similar offense. She gave her name as Eliza Harris, 31 years old.

While standing at the desk she emphatically denied the charge. A thorough search of the woman was made by Matron Syron and $31 was found concealed in her clothing .

Marsh said that he was on his way to the home of a friend when the woman apporached him.

"She threw her arms around me," said he, 'asked me if I wouldn't show her to a certain neighborhood. I told her I was a stranger and pushed her away. A few minutes later I felt in my inside pocket for my wallet and it was gone. I saw the woman a block away and ran after her. When she saw me coming she started to run, but I overtook her and demanded my money. I held on to her and hollered 'Police!' and the sergeant came to my help."

Lieutenant Klinefelter sent Marsh and Sergeant Ray back to search and in the doorway the wallet containing the checks was found.

money had been given him by his wife money had een given him by his wife to buy her a watch.

TWO DAYS ENOUGH.

Mrs. Frank R. Marable Says She Does Not Love Her Husband She Leaves.

Norfolk, Va., April 5.—Marriage is a failure. At least, that is the view taken by Mrs. Bessie R. Marable, who after two days of married life wrote a letter to her husband, telling him she was leaving him forever. Mr. Marable has just entered suit for dvorce, making desertion the grounds for the action.

Miss Bessie E. Cobbe was a book agent before her marriage to Frank R. Marable, who was employed by the Norfolk and Western Railway. After three years' of courtship the couple plighted their troth. The day following the marriage Mrs. Marable told her husband she was going to Williamsport, Pa. to visit a girl friend who was quite ill.

The bridegroom tried to persuade her not to go for a few days, saying he would arrange to accompany her. She did not listen to argument and secertly purchased a ticket, and after kissing her husband of 24 hours a sad farewell, went away.

The next day Marable received a letter from his wife which was mailed in this cty, in which he said she did not love hm and was going away forever.

The letter was as follows:

"Frank: I have decided that it is best that I should not live with you—that is the reason I am going away. I don't love you, and I can't be the right kind of a wife to you.

"Of course, I could live with you, but I would be running about with other men, an then people would talk about me. While as it is they can't say one word about me.

"Frank the reason I would not show you my ticket was that it is not to Williamsport, at all. I am not going to Pennsylvania, at all, but to another state. Don't try to find me, because it would be useless. I am going where no one will ever know I was married at all.

GOVERNOR'S REFUTATION.

Denies Alleged Relationship Between Himself and Massie and Goad...

Richmond, Va., April 5.—Denying in no uncertain terms that he was influenced through personal motives in declining to interfere with the verdict of the courts in the trials and convictions of the members of the Allen gang of Carroll county outlaws, the executive has just issued a statement refuting these criticsims.

The rumors generally heard in Richmond were to the effect that Mrs. Mann is a cousin of Judge Thornton L. Massie, one of the victims of the Hillsville tragedy. Another report had it that Dexter Goad is a close relative of Governor Mann, and another story was to the effect that Clerk Goad was a brother of Mrs. Mann. It has also been stated that Governor Mann was financially interested in the Baldin-Felts Detective agency.

Regarding all these rumors the Governor authorized the following categorical statement, setting them at rest:

1.—That he does not own and has never owned a share of stock in the Baldwin-Felts Detectives, Inc., and that he has never been interested in a business venture of any sort in which eitheh W. G. Baldwin or Thomas L. Felts was associated.

2.—That he never heard of Dexter Goad until the Hillsville tragedy occured and that neither Mrs. Mann nor himself is related to or connected with Goad.

3.—That neither Mrs. Mann nor himself is related to or connected with the late Judge Thornton L. Massie.

4.—That he is not related to or connected with in any way whatever, any victim, witness, judge, attorney or anybody else who had anything to do with the Allen case.

A story came from New York last night to the effect that it was reported in that city that residents of Hanover were circulating a petition asking for a special session of the legislature to impeach Governor Mann for his action in the Allen cases. Hanover people naturally laughed at such a ridiculous rumor.

In the mail for the Richmond postmaster yesterday morning was an envelope directed to "The Postmaster of Richmond, Va," containing a threat against Governor Mann, presumably for his actions in connection with the Allen case.

The leter, written in ink, on a half page of social note paper, was as follows:

"We are going to get Mann and we are goig to let you know it and Mann, too."

The handwriting was evidently that of an illiterate person, though it showed apparent indications of being disguised, through its inconsistency in spelling.

This leter is similar in nature to a great many others received by the governor, but he is giving himself no concern over them.

COMPLIMENT TO GREAT BRITAIN.

London is well pleased with the appointment of Walter Hines Page, as amabassador to the Court of St. James. The Britsh press believes that President Wilson has paid a silent, but none the less striking, compliment to the good sense of the British people in selecting for this great post of honor a man whose qualifications as a scholar make him a desirable representative.

The great fortunes spent by Hay and Reid, at London; by Tower at Berlin, and by Morton and Herrick at Paris, have caused us to believe that only a man of great wealth, who can bear the expense of lavish entertainments, is qualified for the position of ambassador. It is probable that the appointments of multi-millionaire who have been rewarded for their large contributions to Republican campaign funds by being give nchoice diplomatic places has made the impression stick.

That the salaries of our diplomats are inadequate must be admitted, but it is not true that costly social entertainments which rival the splendor of royal functions are necessary to give a representative of the United States a place of honor and influence at a foreign court. Bancroft, Greeley, Irving and Lowell were diplomats of a type whose work is felt and whose scholarly attainments are readily recognized. A reversion to this type of ambassador is badly needed just now, and a democratic president has properly taken the initiative in complimenting a foreign nation by sending to its court a man who will be recognized for his brains and ability and not for a show of almost regal extravagance.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF THE SYMPATHIZER

(Richmond News-Leader.)

Hysteria is an acute affection of the nervous system. A sentimentalist is a person generally deficient in judgment, or one who has so subjegated his judgment to his emotions as to have reached a state of utter irrationality. Hysteria blended with sentimentality produces the sympathizer. The sympathizer is in a class by himself.

It is characteristic of the sympathizer that he is at all times wrong. This state of affairs appears perfectly natural to him and altogether as it should be. You say to him that you have the law on your side and he will reply that you are blinded by precedent and are a slave to custom. You tell him that you stand upon justice and he will admonish you that you take the shoes from off you feet and erect your perpendicular upon mercy.

You suggest to the sympathizer that he has been unwise in his course and he will smile at you pityingly. Prove to him the unwisdom of his methods and he will retire behind a statement. This ends the matter, in the mind of the sympathizer.

You point out to him that the trial courts have sustained your view of the case and he will prove to you that a grievous wrong has been perpetrated in the conviction of criminals. You urge upon him that the Supreme Court of Appeals has upheld you in your contention and he will reply that a great stain has been placed upon the escutcheon of Vrginia. You remind him that four justices of the Supreme Court of the United States have coincided with the verdicts and rulings of the Virginia courts and he will reply to you that this was due to legal technicalities. You tell him that the governor of Virginia has weighed the evidence and upheld the rulings of the tribunals of justice and he will foam at the mouth and denominate the executive a narrow and prejudiced predestinarian. He will tell you in one breath that the governor lacked the moral stamina to remain in the state at his post of duty and face the music. And in the next breath he will revile the governor for rushing back into the state to upset a midnight conspiracy and to uphold the majesty of the law.

You say to the sympathizer that a circuit judge, a prosecuting attorney, a sheriff, a juror and an innocent woman were murdered in a courtroom, that the judge and juror were unarmed and the woman helpless. He will reply to you that human life is a sacred thing; a thing which should be safeguarded even against the law; that the state has no moral right to exact the blood of a convicted assassin; that such an exaction would be legalizing murder. He will tell you that there is no such possible thing as a proven conspiracy, but that the governor of Virginia conspired against the penitentiary directorate to prevent the presentation of a medal for a murder.

And what does all of this mean? Why this means that the sympathizer is right and that the rest of the world is wrong. The fact that the rest of the world is too narrow and bigoted to accept this truth is received and treated by the sympathizer with indulgence. The fact that the rest of the world is so very far removed from the Eden of Carroll county where outlws ride out of the Fancy Gap section to shoot circuit judges from courthouse benches, is geographical proof to the mind of the sympathizer that the country at large is out of touch with the proper atmospheric surroundings of the case and in no position to properly sympathize with him in his point of view.

HOW I'VE REFORMED.

You never make a hit by being grouchy or severe,
You never make a friend by being glum,
There isn't much that's lucky in a frown or in a tear,
And if you make it pay your're going some.

Now I am old, my joints are stiff and I'm about all in,
The rheumatiz has got a hold on me,
But no one wants to hear me on the corner stand and chin
About my suff'ring and infirmity.

And yet it was not ever thus, for once I used to ten
Each neighbor whom I'd met upon the street, Just how far off I was removed from being strong and well,
And how I used to suffer with my feet.

And how my liver wouldn't work and how my weakened back
Was nearly broken with its load of pain,
And how the grim, destroying cough
my system used to rack,
And how the gout was driving me insane.

Of course, I was an awful bore, and so one bright spring morn
A neighbor waited for me with a club,
And gave me what I'd needed ever since I had been born,
And convinced me that I was a hopeless dub.

So now I am more cheerful, and I have friends by the score,
And if I'm ill I think it is my fault,
These days I keep my troubles to myself, and what is more
I'm not in daily danger of assault.

THE LATE WAYNE F. BYERS.

(Communicated.)

Again we are called on to record in human history the passing of a friend. Death, the inevitable, is ever present, and strikes when least expected. This time, however, the subject of this article realized the certainty of the visit of the Reaper and therefore he had his lamps trimmed and burning and his house in order. If we did but know how little some enjoy of the great things they possess, there would be much envy in the world. Wayne Byers had a big heart and lived the life God gave him in a whole-souled way. Being compelled to take a man's place in the home early in life he accepted the decree of the Maker without complaint, and to my knowledge, did, up to the time of his affliction, measure up to all the requirements of manhood. And even when in suffering he manfully bore it and his great energy and brain, which was never idle, worked out a problem of making a living which few would have thought of. He was a good husband, he was honest to his fellow man, he was a good citizen and, I know, he was a good mechanic. His ideas of liberality when in health, had no limit. But he is gone, and his wife, whom he adored, has the sympathy of thousands of his friends here and elsewhere. But, no matter how sad conditions are—

Passing away—passing away!
The young and loving in life's early day
The infant is torn from it's mothers breast,
The aged one goes for his wished-for rest.
The sun each day brightly shines in the sky
In a glorious bright eternity.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF RESIDUE.

Trustee's sale of the residue of the "Belvoir" or "White House' 'tract of land located in Mt. Vernon Magisterial District, Fairfax County, Va., containing approximately 1100 acres with improvements.

By virtue of the authority vested in us by the will of Philip Otterback, deceased, and under decree of the Circuit Court of Fairfax county, Va., in the suit of Otterback vs. Bohren, at its March term, 1913, the undersigned trustees will offer for sale at public auction, in front of the Royal Street entrance to the Market House in Alexandria, Virginia, at the above described property.

This tract, the old home of Lord Fairfax and separated from George Washington's home at Mt. Vernon by Dogue Creek, originally consisted of approximateely twenty-seven hundred (2,700) acres, of which 1,500 acres has been taken by the United States Government for a school of Equitation or Horsemanship. The balance between ten and twelve hundred acres consists of valuable farming lands and about eight hundred (800) acres of valuable timber. It has a large deep water frontage on the Potomac river as well as a large frontage on Dogue Creek, with valuable fishing shores. The property is improved by the old mansion house familiarly known for many years as the "White House," a club house, barns, stables, out-buildings and tenant houses. It is situated on the county road between Mt. Vernon and Accotink and is about four miles by road from Mt. Vernon. This property is one of the most historic in the section and would make a very desirable country estate because of its location and the opportunities afforded for fishing and shooting.

Terms of Sale:—One-third cash and residue in 3 equal annual payments at one, two and three years from the date of the confirmation of the sale with interest from the said date of the confirmation of sale at the rate of six per cent per annum, interest payable semi-annually with right to anticipate the time of paying the deferred payments, secured by retention of title till paid.

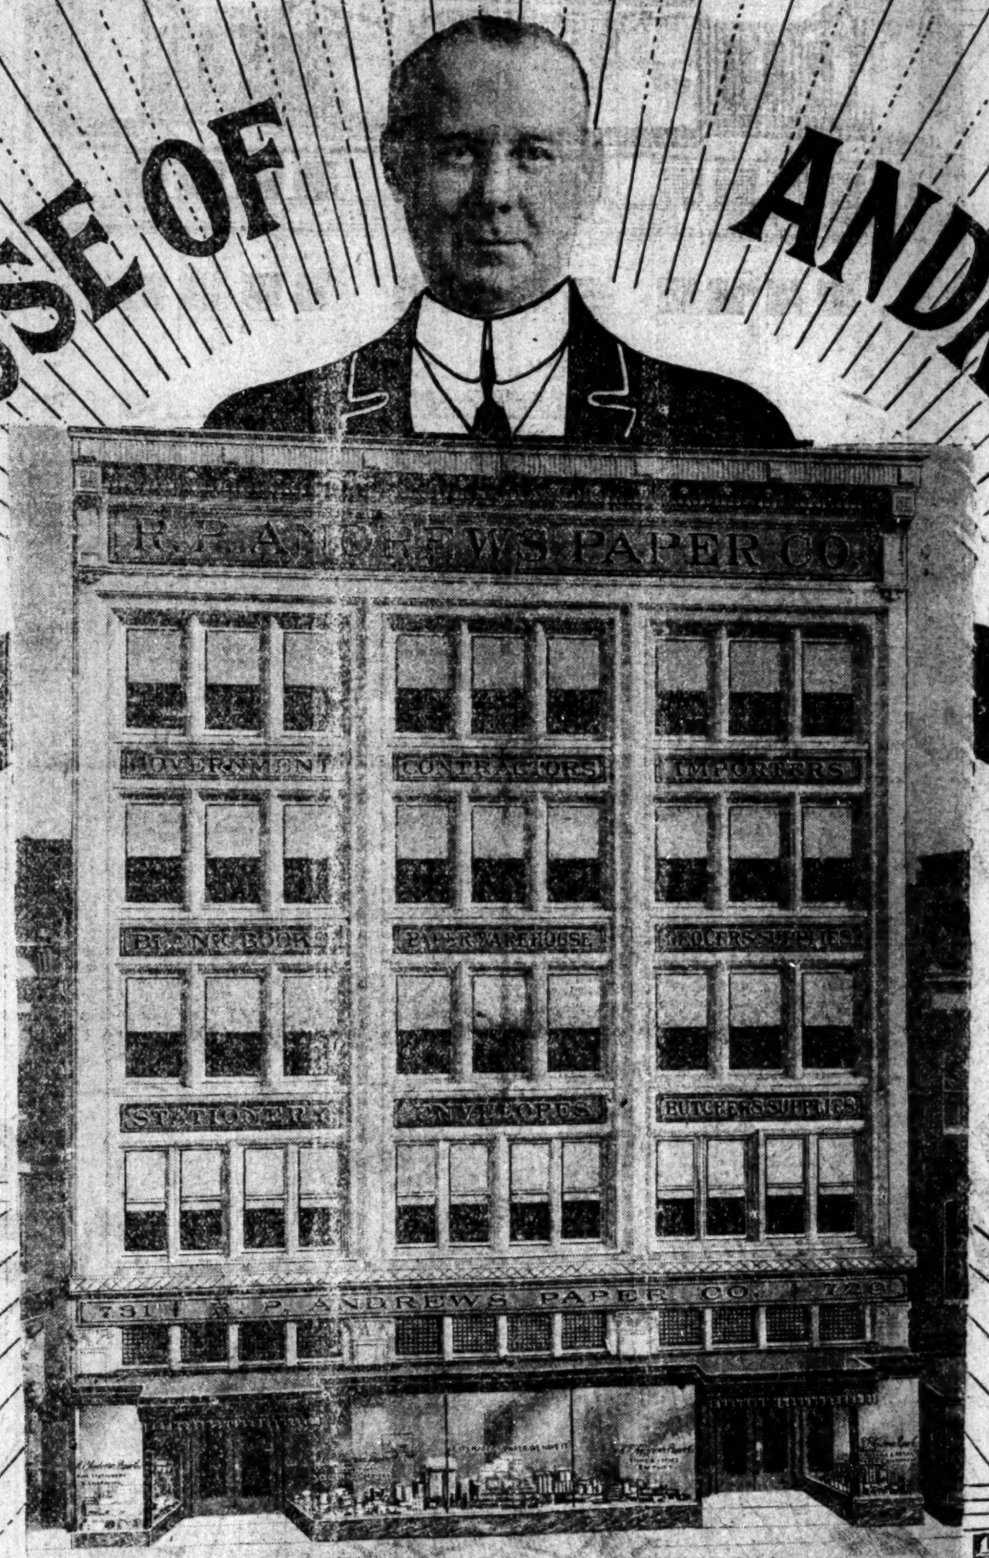
HOUSE OF ANDREWS



MILBURN, HEISTER & CO. ARCHITECTS

We extend to our friends and customers a cordial invitation to visit and inspect our new home, which we believe is the handsomest, best constructed, most modern equipped building for the conduct of a paper and Stationery business in the United States.

There will be a souvenir given to every visitor on our opening day, and we will offer in our Stationery Department souvenir prices that will make every purchaser remember their visit, and to every lady making a purchase of two dollars or over we will present a beautiful book on "Social Stationery," being a desk book on the Etiquette of Social Stationery by Jean Wilde Clark, from the press of Eaton, Crane & Pike Co., Pittsfield, Mass. the retail price of which is One Dollar per copy.

Come and see the big paper Cutting Machines which alone are worth a visit.

See the Telautograph Service whereby an order writen on the first floor is instantly reproduced in facsimile writing on any of the other floors.

Come and see the largest stock of paper and Stationery ever contained within one building.

Come and see our new home whether you wish to buy or not.

Remember "If it's made of paper, you can get it at Andrews."
